

Did you know there are two ways to support Planned Parenthood through your Individual Retirement Account (IRA)? It's as simple as filling out a form from your plan administrator. Here's what you need to know:

Frequently Asked Questions	IRA Charitable Distribution Today	Beneficiary Designation for a Future Bequest
Who can make this kind of gift?	People age 70½ and older (even when your Required Minimum Distribution starts at age 72).	Anyone at any time.
Is there a limit to how much I can give?	Yes, $100,000 per donor, per year.	No limit, but may require spousal approval if over 50% of account total.
How do I make this gift?	Fill out a form provided by your plan administrator or use the online tool below.	Fill out a designated beneficiary form provided by your plan administrator.
Will my gift be subject to income or estate tax?	As long as your gift is made directly from your plan administrator, qualifying IRA gifts will not be subject to federal income tax* and will count toward any required minimum distribution.	No, your gift would not be subject to tax (although a comparable gift made to your heirs would be taxable).
How do I let Planned Parenthood know about my IRA gift?	Some companies do not provide the donor's name with IRA distributions. Email or call us with the name of your financial institution and amount of your gift.	Please contact us. We can provide assistance as needed and would love to thank you for your gift.

* State tax laws vary.
